

It's time for the formation of a well regulated militia for the security of a free state.

A web page for each state, a stick perhaps, I don't know. Without an armed uprising nothing will happen. We are going to start running well regulated militias in each state to organize the revolution.

Each state to start bringing in leaders, firearm instructors and trainers, survivalists, willing law enforcement, fire and ems lawyers, educators, students, and citizens with the will and discipline to stand up.

We will have to have multiple forms of communication to prevent law enforcement from illegally stopping or detaining any of our members. The communication channels will be used to immediately spring into action to prevent arrests and closure of militia chapters. We will have to show up armed. We will have to develop tactics and strategies to effectively execute these moves.

Our rights and our future has been infringed. It's time.

▼ We need organized and trained military officials to teach command structure and for people to vote and fill those spots. We'll have to draw up rules and regulations and a system of voting people in and out in case people don't fit the role.

We'll need to organize training days and do drill testing for quick help and deployment for hot button issues.

We'll need computer experts who can run the sites and keep them up. Whatever we use it has to be redundant and unstoppable as best it can be.

7 People need to organize IRL, not on the Internet.

2 That what the plan is. We can't meet IRL if we don't find each other, organize, and meet.

2 Lmao you must be joking. You organize with your neighbors, friends, and/or family—NOT ran from the Internet who could very well be CIA or FBI.

...not up, we can't organize in fear of making someone else's people are more honest anonymously. The weak can stay home. The rest will organize, meet, and get things done.

8 If you're an able bodied American, you're already part of the militia.

Well regulated just means well-equipped in the context of the second amendment.

So here we all are compatriots.

4 "Well regulated" now equates to getting tracked by the feds and infiltrated by glowies. I would advise against. Better to set up a secret cell with your buddies and figure out how you can contribute to the overall fight on your own.

Well regulated doesn't specify what those regulations are or who may create them.

You could simply have a single regulation that says:

Every person in the militia be given a gun.

Have strong leaders enforcing said regulation, and boom. Well regulated militia.

We will define what it means. Not one of us will except a definition of it that isn't made by it's militia members.

Here's a list of everything other group that can help define what well regulated means:
